Now Accepting Applications – Apply by May 15, 2018

The Gopen Fellowship is a one year, part-time work and learning opportunity for an individual with an intellectual and/or developmental disability. It allows an individual to work on a self-designed project and learn about disability policy, services and advocacy. Massachusetts residents with developmental disabilities who are no longer in high school are eligible to apply. The Gopen Fellow works primarily at the Institute for Community Inclusion (ICI) in Dorchester, and occasionally at the Massachusetts Developmental Disabilities Council (MDDC) in Quincy.

The Gopen Fellow will:

- Work up to 20 hours per week for a period of 12 months.
- Design and work on an original disability project created by the Fellow.
- Develop a final product: for example a brochure, presentation or webpage.
- Schedule and attend meetings to gather information about the chosen project.
- Attend Friday morning LEND Fellowship classes in Boston (September-May.)
- Attend conferences, workshops and other events to learn about disability services, public policy, advocacy, government and the chosen area of interest.
- Share information about project activities with Massachusetts Developmental Disabilities Network partners and other disability organizations.
- Develop a project work plan and complete quarterly status reports.
- Make one or more presentations about the project at the end of the Fellowship.

The Fellowship will begin the week of July 1, 2018 and end on June 30, 2019. Annual compensation is up to $20,000, paid bi-weekly.

The application deadline has been extended to Tuesday, May 15, 2018. To apply for the Fellowship, submit a written application, resume, and 3 letters of reference.

Applicants will be judged on their potential to benefit from the Fellowship experience, their project's originality and methodology, their ability to implement the proposed project, and the expected impact of the project after it is completed.
